

To Whom it May Concern,

I'm writing in response to your job posting for Level Designer (<https://gamehive.humi.ca/job-board/product/912>) . Please consider my application as required.

As a recent graduate from Sheridan College's Game Level Design Post-Graduate program, I've learned the skills necessary to effectively create meaningful and engaging gameplay and levels that meet industry standards. I have a solid foundation in Design, having worked for several years in Graphic and Web Design for large companies, and am able to meet technical and creative requirements on projects as set by the client and meet strict deadlines. Having read the qualifications and job duties for this position and feel I am qualified and would be a valuable asset to your team. Your posting stresses the ability to work well with a team, and effective communication between departments- two things I excel at.

Over the last 5 years I have worked with a team of more than 10 others creating one of the largest mods for a game called Starbound. I have played a part in every aspect of its creation since the start, utilizing skills such as Level Design, Narrative Design, Mechanics, 2D Art, Web Design, UI and UX, game-play balancing (singleplayer and multiplayer), and much more besides. Acting as Project Manager, I have been able to effectively keep my team on-task and meet the deadlines set for various features and provide a solid and engaging game-play experience to the wide array of players around the world. In addition, I have experience in 3D as well having worked on various other mods through the years. All of these projects provide me with a fair amount of experience, and position me to be an ideal candidate for the industry.

I would appreciate your consideration for my application and the opportunity to further discuss in a personal interview or phone call. I can be reached via email at cdechamplain@gmail.com or via telephone at 416-769-2793.

Thank you for your consideration. I remain available should you have any questions and to provide additional details or references.

Sincerely,

Chris DeChamplain
